

CHICAGO CITY HOLDINGS JUMP

CHICAGO.—Individual realtors are not the only ones who have been making money on land values here. The city of Chicago has increased value of its real holdings more than 700 per cent.

In report filed March 18, Joseph F. Peacock, municipal real estate agent, showed property valued at $57,922,649. Since 1850, however, the city expended only $7,647,000 for real estate.

Included in the Peacock report are thirty parcels located in the loop, bought for $900,000 and now valued at $25,000,000.

EAST END SIN IS FATAL, PASTOR WARNS

Rev. R. C. Beechley in Penn Avenue Church
Pulpit.

Sin is as insidious as leprosy, as contagious and painful and will become equally fatal unless stamped out immediately upon discovery, affirmed the Rev. R. C. Beechley, pastor, at the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist church revival last night. His subject was "Sin and Leprosy."

One conversion resulted from the service.

The Rev. Mr. Beechley will preach again tonight, his theme being "Profit and Loss."

Harry Rose, who occupied the pulpit Monday night, sang a solo before the sermon by the Rev. Mr. Beechley.

The story of the leper coming to Jesus and beseeching Him for physical aid was told by the pastor.

"He came humbly and with faith," he averred. "And the Christ noting his faith made him whole with the words: 'I will. Be thou cleansed.'

"Leprosy is deep seated and thus by getting into the blood affects the entire body. Sin is like that. Like leprosy it is a seeming small thing in the beginning. But, growing, it reaches proportions that make it incurable for the most part."

"Persons addicted to drink frequently say they can quit or let it alone. Then they should let it alone. Continued, the habit reaches a point when it can not be controlled. Likewise sin. There is a time that initial indulgence in that which is wrong causes the sinner to feel he can quit or let the habit alone. In the end he is enmeshed in its toils."

"Sin is very contagious. Persons with leprosy were made to shout 'unclean' as they approached people. Because of sin in the lives of others, parents attempt to shield their children from those of bad character or should do so. A merciful man can corrupt many who associate with him."

"There is but one remedy from sin and that is repentance that leads to the state of salvation. If we but come to Jesus as did this leper, humbly acknowledging our sins and asking to be cleansed therefrom, He will say: 'I will. Be thou cleansed.'

THREE VERBS SERMON TOPIC

Rev. J. P. Wisman
Preaches on "Come,
Learn, Follow."

Fine interest was maintained in the revival services at Boyce Methodist Episcopal church last night when the pastor, the Rev. John Poe Wisman, spoke on three verbs that were noted in as many texts, "Come, Learn and Follow." It was Sunday School Night.

"In the Garden of Prayer," was sung by J. Foltz, of Wellsville, who was a visitor at the meeting. "Utmost Salvation," will be the subject of the Rev. Mr. Wisman tonight.

The Christly averments: "Come unto me all ye who are heavy laden" and "Take my yoke upon you and learn of me" carried two of the verbs utilized by him in his discourse and the Christly command to John, "Follow me," the third of the trinity.

He told how Noah had been told to come in the early days of history and only he and his family of all the world accepted this command. He showed how the disciples came to Jesus that they might learn of him.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little. It can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pine from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy is remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pine is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, volatile form, well known as one of the greatest healing agents for "flu" coughs and other severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pine. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Beauty Shops say, "Give your hands

RECENTLY, 305 of the finest beauty salons in the United States reported this interesting fact—

"With all our experience,"—these experts said—"we cannot distinguish between hands that never wash dishes and hands that use Lux in the dishpan. . . . Evidently, Lux gives real beauty care."

These experts observe thousands of hands and they know! In their own words, Lux means "beauty care" right in your own dishpan!

Isn't this a startling idea? Yet women instinctively know it is true. Washing their fine things in the gorgeously sparkling Lux suds, women themselves noticed how smooth and white their hands looked afterward.

Now they are washing dishes with Lux to give their hands the same gentle beauty care—three times a day!

The secret is simple . . .

Lux is so utterly pure, so delicately refined by the special process used in its making, that it protects the precious beauty oils—the youth oils—of the skin. Many soaps dry up these oils, leave the skin parched—red and drawn looking.

Best of all, this beauty care costs almost nothing. Lux for all your dishes costs less than 1¢ a day!

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder irritation often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes, and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

the best of it —

WHEN you "take a chance" and order your building materials "sight unseen" from mail-order allurements you must take what you get when you get it. When your car-load is delivered, it's too late to do anything about it. You can't pack up a house and send it back — and the mail-order, knock-down man knows that.

But when you personally select each article of building material from a reliable local dealer you not only have all the advantages of careful investigation and judgment but also the chance to revise as new ideas develop in the progress of construction.

Actually Crippled By Rheumatism, Now Walks

"There Is Nothing Too Strong to Say in Favor of Owa-Ton-Na," States Fred Smith of Fourth St.—"It Made Life Bearable For Me When Rheumatism and Constipation Laid Me Low."

All that life held for Mr. Fred Smith of 401 4th St., S. W., Canton, Ohio was a wheel chair and crutches. Rheumatism was slowly dragging him down and down until he tried Owa-Ton-Na, Indian Herbal Remedy. Mr. Smith is so enthusiastic about Owa-Ton-Na that if he hears of anyone in this town suffering from rheumatic pains, he makes it his business to tell them what herbs, roots, barks and seeds, nature's own medicine formulated in Owa-Ton-Na Indian Herb Remedy, have done for him.

What better evidence than this is there that can prove to you that Owa-Ton-Na should rid you of those swollen joints that keep you from your work or duties and make you suffer day after day almost unbearable misery and torture. But let Mr. Smith tell it.

Owa-Ton-Na, Indian "Herb Remedy, is the only medicine that put me on my feet. For more than 8 years I thought I would never be able to walk a step by myself. Now after taking Owa-Ton-Na, I can walk around without any help at all. Some of my joints are disfigured but this damage had all been done before I started to take Owa-Ton-Na. Had I learned about this fine old Indian Remedy long before this, I would not be disfigured and would be able to get around as well as I ever could. I can walk around without any help at all, something I have not done for years. Before taking this wonderful, health tonic, Owa-Ton-Na, I would get attacks of rheumatic pains that would swell up every joint in my body until they looked like balloons."

"The joints in my wrists, elbows, knees and ankles felt as if someone had poured molten lead on them. Pain was so severe that at times I almost cried but today that is all a thing of the past. I feel I owe my life, health and happiness to Owa-Ton-Na. I bless the day that I first started it. In addition to ridding me of my rheumatic pains, Owa-Ton-Na has given me new life and strength and a healthy appetite. No more pains or constipation. Constipation, which I had been suffering with for years is gone and I do not have to take laxatives to keep my bowels regular. I know that anyone who takes Owa-Ton-Na diligently and faithfully will get just as good results, but I don't think there is a case in Canton any worse than I was. It has been a life saver to me."

The case of Mr. Smith is but one of many similar cases where Owa-Ton-Na has taken an apparently hopeless case from a life of misery and suffering to one where health and enjoyment is again present. All Owa-Ton-Na asks is an opportunity to prove its merits to you. Some cases, of course, take longer than others to show remarkable results, but nevertheless, continued improvement is noticed from its use at the very start. You will be thankful to yourself when you have taken Owa-Ton-Na. It may lead to just the things you have been yearning for—better health, no more aches and pains and the joy of the things about you.

Owa-Ton-Na is being introduced at Carnahan's Drug Store, 114 E. 6th St., E. Liverpool, Ohio, where for a short time a laboratory representative will be located daily to explain to eager health seekers, the merits of this fine old Indian Remedy. This service is free so why not call and have a talk with her today about your own case? Owa-Ton-Na is also obtainable at Carnahan's East End and Newell, W. Va. Store.

PENN AVENUE MEET CALLED FOR TONIGHT

Proposed Improvements
Will be Topic at Session.

MAYOR TO ATTEND
Engineer to Submit
Estimates on Street
Program.

Pennsylvania avenue property owners will meet in the East End Catholic club at 8:30 o'clock tonight to discuss a proposed improvement program.

Mayor Ralph Benedum, Service-Safety Director J. W. Moore, City Engineer Clapsaddle and members of council have been invited to attend the session.

City Engineer Clapsaddle has prepared estimates on the cost of surfacing. If the street between its tracks and two feet on either side the cost will be a little less than $6 a foot. If the company bears one half of the expense of improving between the tracks, the cost will be from $8 to $8.50 a foot. If the traction owners decline to participate in the improvement, the expense to property holders will be about $9.70 a foot.

The municipality will pay two percent of the cost of the entire improvement plus the cost of intersections and also one half of the original cost for improving the street which was $1.77 a foot.

Legislation, which council is considering calls for brick on a concrete base. The proposed improvement will begin at the Garfield school and end at the Dry Run bridge.

about, he remarked, "They say you were not so timid yourself when there." You see some of my companions' sons were his companions at the school.

Declaring that boys now were bolder and more open than were those of periods past, he urged for more sympathy with present day youth.

"Do you know that 3,000 years before Christ writers were bemoaning the buoyancy and active tendencies of youth and the older generations have been doing so ever since. I have all my life heard of the alleged irregularities of high school pupils. Always such stories and reports have abounded."

Change in World Itself.

"The real change that has come about is in the world itself," he indicated. "We are living in a different environment now."

He told of having lived in cities all of his life while rearing his own boys. "And they never had anything to do. I had plenty of chores and other activities in the country. There is little left for boys but to go on the streets in many instances," he pointed out. "And so conditions are the result of what is a new era of existence."

He told of going through a Billy Sunday campaign in Lima some 17 years ago and noted the great excitement prevailing.

"I was at the tabernacle here last fall on several occasions to hear the same Billy Sunday. And there was no excitement at all anywhere in the city," he observed. "There was nothing wrong with Billy Sunday. He was the same, but times have changed and we are living in another world."

"And so when we come to sit in judgment on our sons as they take part in the more active departures of the day it is well to ask ourselves whether, if we were in their places, we might be worse than they."

Must Meet New Conditions.

He made it plain that he did not mean to excuse youth in waywardness, but suggested that many may be forgotten how tremendously the world is changing.

He stressed the need for adaptability to those new conditions, citing that the skeletons of mammals had been found frozen in ice of the northern countries. "But in the rigors of a changed climate they failed to survive the change the Arctic fox, hare and musk-ox did. The latter changed its hair to meet the new conditions and could burrow under snow for food."

"And that is what we as parents and boys also must do. We must recognize the change that has come to the world and adapting ourselves to this change, meet it so that existence will go on as formerly. Unless we do it will not speak well for the future."

Fashion Color Riot

ered Swiss organdies woven for spring and for summer are also displayed.

Skirts a Little Longer.

Skirts on dresses appear to be about an inch longer than last season. There are a few uneven hem-lines, this effect being generally brought about by one side of a draped fullness on one side.

Hats show a decided tendency to become larger. The small close fitting hats takes first place in most stores, but there are not a few straws with very broad brims which sometimes drooped gracefully in harmony with the lines of the dresses.

Sun-tan is the favored hosiery color. Rose Morn and similar pinkish beiges are in evidence.

Footwear.

Footwear in most cases is chosen to match the dress, as are the handbags. In general, costume accessories are neither so numerous nor so brilliant as in past seasons. Outer apparel itself has taken on such a colorful aspect that little additional brilliancy is needed.

Flower printed chiffons and taffetas were used freely in designing formal evening gowns. Another strong note in this group is sounded by flower printed chiffon capes to match the gown. Matching capes or wraps of chiffon were frequently noted even in the plain colored costumes.

Formal gowns are cut higher in front and lower — much lower — in back. In many cases the bodice is the more than a glorified adaptation of the humble male suspender. The deep V backs were cut to the waist and the U backs were but little less daring.

Skirts reach just below the knee in front, and in back stretched down indefinitely toward the floor.

Bill Set for March

SPEED ALL WORK

"Jitney" Calendar Committee is Beginning
Of End.

By C. H. HADDOX,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., March 13.—The legislative leaders plan adjournment of the present session the last of this month is a rumor current today among the solons.

House officials said it is planned to introduce the big biennial appropriation bill in the house about March 20. It has been customary to end the work of the Ohio legislature within a day or two after the big appropriation bill passes the house and senate.

Belief that the session will come to a close within a week or 10 days after the big appropriation bill is introduced is founded upon the fact that the senate and house finance committees have been meeting in joint sessions since the legislature opened. These joint sessions, it is claimed, will cut about three weeks off the session.

The "beginning of the end" was noted when the house late yesterday empowered its rules committee to serve as a "Jitney" calendar committee. The senate rules committee began serving as a "Jitney" calendar committee last week.

American airplane manufacturers are busy, thanks to this Mexican war.

The Vought aircraft factory on Long Island is working day and night turning out a fleet of swift fighting airplanes ordered by Mexico. Other American factories, with the approval of Washington, are engaged in the same work.

The most ardent revolutionist on the ground has little chance against bullets and bombs from the air.

In Tennessee two doctors are held on a charge of murder, for operating, while intoxicated, on a boy 12 years old. The boy is dead.

DOCTORS usually write their prescriptions so illegibly that the average citizen has no idea what is in them. That needs changing, if necessary, by law.

When a doctor prescribes drugs you have a right to know what he is giving you, and especially when half-forming drugs are given.

ILLEGIBLE doctors' prescriptions date back to a time when doctors in London were usually more or less drunk after dinner if they were prosperous. Therefore, all doctors wrote prescriptions illegibly. But that's gone. A doctor drinking to excess is by the great exception.

MISGUIDED human beings, including British Tories, have said that universal suffrage is bad. "Why," they ask, "should the ignorant, debased masses be allowed to vote when they cannot possibly understand government?"

IN LONDON, at present, the Tories are busy answering their own question, with a frantic effort to clean up the slums and thus get votes for the Conservative party at the coming election.

THE masses may be too ignorant to understand government, but they are not too ignorant to understand misery.

When you let everybody vote, the man in power must worry about EVERYBODY, instead of worrying only about his own class. For that reason it was very important to give women the vote.

Policitians might ask, "What do the women want?" and try to give it to them.

FARMERS TO O. K. HOOVER PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(I. N. S.)—Enactment of a non-partisan farm relief bill in the coming special session of congress today became the goal of leaders of the congressional "farm bloc."

The decision of the American farm bureau federation to "go long with Hoover" has been followed by assurance from leading Democratic exponents of farm relief that they will abandon any partisan attitude and co-operate in the writing of the new measure.

Motorist is Asphyxiated.

CANTON, O., March 13.—Asphyxiation by carbon monoxide fumes was the cause assigned by Coroner T. C. McQuade today for the death of Claudio Graham, 26, who was found sitting upright behind the steering wheel of his automobile in his garage late yesterday.

Hats show a decided tendency to become larger. The small close fitting hats takes first place in most stores, but there are not a few straws with very broad brims which sometimes drooped gracefully in harmony with the lines of the dresses.

Sun-tan is the favored hosiery color. Rose Morn and similar pinkish beiges are in evidence.

Footwear.

Footwear in most cases is chosen to match the dress, as are the handbags. In general, costume accessories are neither so numerous nor so brilliant as in past seasons. Outer apparel itself has taken on such a colorful aspect that little additional brilliancy is needed.

Flower printed chiffons and taffetas were used freely in designing formal evening gowns. Another strong note in this group is sounded by flower printed chiffon capes to match the gown. Matching capes or wraps of chiffon were frequently noted even in the plain colored costumes.

Formal gowns are cut higher in front and lower — much lower — in back. In many cases the bodice is the more than a glorified adaptation of the humble male suspender. The deep V backs were cut to the waist and the U backs were but little less daring.

Skirts reach just below the knee in front, and in back stretched down indefinitely toward the floor.

Stakes Set for Surfacing
Narrow Brick Section
Of East Liverpool-
Youngstown Highway.

LISBON, O., March 13.—H. C. Armstrong of Lisbon, to whom the contract was recently awarded by the county commissioners for grading and construction of drainage structures on the North Georgetown-Westerville road, will make deliveries of materials on this project within the next two weeks, it was announced today. This road will pass Lake Placentia Park, and extend from the North Georgetown-Homeworth road north to Westerville where it will tap the Cox highway.

Stakes have been set on the East Liverpool-Youngstown road in Liverpool township for the surfacing with concrete the narrow brick road. Bids for this work, which will be done under state supervision, will be sought in Columbus within the next few weeks. While this road is being improved, traffic will be diverted from the north on the Lincoln highway either from Apple's Corner via Stop 55 or over the Calcutta cut-off south of the Y. & O. sub-station. Eventually, the latter section will be closed to all traffic, as concrete will be poured to the Liverpool-St. Clair township line at the sub-station where the present improved highway ends.

George B. Patterson of Wellsville will begin pouring concrete on the East Liverpool-East Palestine road as soon as weather permits. Material for this project will be delivered at the Y. & O. sub-station and then trucked to the new road via Calcutta, thence north to the Fredericktown section.

It's going to be a gay season for both sexes this spring, what with clothes that are bound to appeal to the masculine eye and guaranteed to make feminine eyes green with envy. But judge for yourself from the models shown in which Santa Blane displays two of the very sprightly costumes. On the left is a very fetching street costume of lavender georgette with a coat embroidered in pastel shades of yarn. The dainty hat completes the costume, and brings Paris right to Main street. At the right is one of the striking new dinner frocks that have been promised for this season. This one is of flame red lace and chiffon, with an elaborate design of sequins on the bodice. The voluminous skirt and picturesque duchess collar combine to make a gown that will attract all eyes in the smartest of restaurants.

Ceramics May End Season Tonight In Clash With Pro Leaders

American Loop Five In Action

Two Fast Preliminary Contests Precede Main Event.

AST Liverpool cage fans tonight may have their final opportunity of the season to sit in on a big time independent tilt when the Ceramics clash with the Rochester Centrals, now leading the second half race in the American Professional League, at the public auditorium.

Unless the unforeseen occurs, the tilt with the Rochester outfit tonight will probably ring down the curtain on independent activities for the campaign and with such two teams squabbling there is no question about winding it up in a blaze of glory.

Manager Earl Greenawalt, who also directs the Tri-State amateur tourney affairs, is anxious to get machinery in operation for the big meet Friday and Saturday, March 29-30 and, unless some extraordinary booking presents itself next week, the Rochester engagement tonight will mark the close of a season such as Potter court followers have not enjoyed for many years.

So, in order to get a final peep at the fine brand of basketball dished up by the auditorium management, it is likely that local fans will turn out en masse for the attraction.

Nate Lippe, missing from the local lineup last week, will be back on the job, ready for a hard night's work alongside Firth Smith, the other local forward.

Two of the best prelim attractions of the season are scheduled, the first at 7 o'clock and the second at 8. High school Reserves clash with Brown-Guska Juniors of Toronto in the open and the Ex-Highs tackle the Alumni in the second. The main event goes on at 9 o'clock.

Grade School Cage Tourney Is Launched

Seventh and Eighth Passers go Into Action.

In the opening round of the Elementary school basketball tournament last night on the public and auditorium floor, Sixth Street seventh graders knocked off Garfield seventh graders, 36 to 6, and Lincoln seventh grade outfit outclassed the Neville seventh grade five, 17 to 6. In the games between teams of the eighth grade division, McKinley, laying the best basketball of the night swamped Pleasant Heights, 29 to 6, while Sixth street defeated Horace Mann, 14 to 3.

In the battles between the seventh grade outfits, Craig of Sixth street and Stewart of Lincoln starred, Craig finding the cords for 34 points while Stewart's all around playing featured for Lincoln.

Worthington, Cullen and Smith of McKinley, Hall and Thomas of Pleasant Heights and Wooley of Sixth street were the stars in the eighth grade division contests.

In Training Camps

Rain Halts Tribe Practice.

NEW ORLEANS, March 13.—Jope Pluvius, the well known opponent of baseball, forced the Cleveland Indians into idleness yesterday and the Tribesmen, after their enforced holidays, were ready for a strenuous drill today. Walter Miller, Cleveland sandlotter and southpaw, is expecting a big season and his fellow players, after watching him in early training, are inclined to agree.

Yanks and Braves Clash.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13.—The New York Yankees begin their exhibition series with the Boston Braves here today, and their chances of victory appear none too favorable. The world's champions barely eked out a 1 to 0 win yesterday over the Tampa southeastern leaguers at Tampa. Ruth and Gehrig went hitless and a drive by Lazzeri, who got three safeties, sent in the only run. Myles and Al Shealy pitched for the Yanks.

Battle for Outfield Berth.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 13.—Two rookie outfielders, Nick Cullop and Johnny Frederick, are waging an even battle for the center field job on the Brooklyn Robins.

Lands Gets Busy.

AVALON, Cal., Mar. 13.—It was reported here today that Commissioner K. M. Landis has asked for information concerning the behavior of certain players at Los Angeles Saturday when a dispute arose over calling an exhibition game between the Cubs and Angels on account of rain. In a practice game yesterday the Avalons, or regulars, were beaten by the Catalinas, 14 to 3. Pitching of Malone and Bush was ineffective.

Sox, Steers Play Today.

DALLAS, Tex., Mar. 13.—Weather permitting, the Chicago White Sox and Dallas Steers were to stage their fourth exhibition contest today. For the past two days rain has kept the Blackburne squad indoors.

Nat Rookies Beat Braves.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 13.—A team made up largely of Senatorial rookies licked the Boston Braves, 5 to 2, in a well-played exhibition here yesterday.

"Sad Sam" Jones, the Nationals' leading hurler last year, and "Goose" Goslin, the slugger, outfielder, are still hold-outs.

Tiger Practice Games Even.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Mar. 13.—The third of the five-game series of practice game contests will be played off today between the Tiger regulars and the Tiger Cubs. The series thus far is even, the Cubs winning the first, 6 to 5, and the regulars taking the second, 10 to nine.

Red Sox Meet Cards.

BRADENTON, Fla., Mar. 13.—The Red Sox open their exhibition game schedule this afternoon, meeting the St. Louis Cardinals, National league champions. Local fans have anxiously awaited this chance to see their favorites stack up against the mound city stars.

WABASH BOWLERS IN THIRD PLACE

CHICAGO, March 13.—A new team was among the five leaders in the American Bowling Congress today. The Wabash Electrics of Chicago featured last night's rolling by crashing into third place with a score of 2,833.

J. Burns of Chicago went into fourth place in the singles event by rolling 658. The standings:

CAGERS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 13.—"We expect to have the most successful tournament in history," was the statement made today by H. R. Townsend, commission of the Ohio High school athletic association, speaking of the state high school basketball finals tournament to be held here Friday and Saturday.

"Competition is getting keener every year, and the brand of basketball played is better with each tournament," Townsend continued. "Basketball seen by the fans at the State finals this week, will be much better than was displayed last year," he added.

VANGUARD

A Highly Amusing Story of a Romance
Aboard a Millionaire's Yacht.

By Arnold Bennett

He drew from his hip pocket a folded copy of a London evening newspaper, and displayed the front page, on which flared headlines relating to the Vanguard and to Lord Furber.

"Just come. And probably Lady Furber has just come too. What wife in her position would not have come? The thing that surprises me is that the whole visiting population of Monte Carlo is not congregated around this notorious vessel. However, we may expect sightings in plenty tomorrow morning."

"Do you know Lady Furber?" asked Harriet.

"No. How could I aspire so high? But I know her by sight. Her red hair is unmistakable. And you may take it from me that the lady I have seen is the wife of the Baron Furber, owner of this yacht and of all our immortal souls. I expect she's come to reconnoiter for herself—to see whether all those vamps from Rome are still on board. When she finds that only one vamp is on board, she may decide that even one vamp is more than is strictly necessary."

"I think I ought to call at the Hotel de Paris," Harriet smiled.

"Yes, and leave your card."

Harriet thought she heard a footstep on the stairs below, and she waited impatiently for the Honorable Luke was dilatory. At length he came, with a long white scrap in his hand. She took the scrap, examined it, and thanked the bringer with an exquisite smile.

"Well, your news is very interesting," she said to the wireless operator, who was standing silent. "Goodnight."

"Good-night," said the operator. "And good luck—at the tables—and elsewhere."

He hurried away with an unexampled bow, and at the same time, not troubling to conceal the gesture from Harriet, winked at the Honorable Luke.

Seated in the car by the side of the Honorable Luke, Harriet ought surely to have been in meditation about the disturbing arrival of her old friend, Lady Furber. But in fact she was at first occupied with thoughts of the Honorable Luke.

Was there anything in the charge just brought against her by his cousin? Had she been vamping Luke? She was interested in this question only in so far as she wanted to understand herself. What the possible consequences of the alleged vamping might be to Luke himself did not trouble in the least. She had a suspicion that she liked Luke. He had been very rude to her; he had rebuffed a friendly advance from her; but she liked him. He had neither the magnificent style nor the magnificent figure of his sinister cousin; but she liked him. He was moody and reserved; his manner of putting her into the car was strangely reserved; he sat down by her as though she had the plague; but she liked him.

The point was: would she have despatched any other man on board to retrieve the glove? Well, she admitted that she would not. Nor would she have used to any other man quite the tone she had used to Luke. The tone was in all probability a challenge to resume intimacy. All which possibly did amount to what the wireless operator would call "vamping."

Motoring With Luke.

The car, which made no more noise than a cat purring, mounted the steep hill on third gear, it being one of those cars for which gradients have no significance worth mentioning. In a few seconds, as it seemed, the machine had arrived at the doors of the club. An attendant opened the door. The Honorable Luke stepped out. Harriet remained seated. The Honorable Luke impassively waited.

"Mr. Tunnicliff," said she at length. "Will you get in again, and ask the driver to move on a bit and then stop. I should like to have a little chat with you, if you don't object."

"As you wish," said the Honorable Luke.

Harriet was obeyed.

"We're cosy enough here, aren't we?" Harriet observed.

"Yes," said the Honorable Luke.

The car had come to a standstill in the shadow of some trees which overhung the road. A tram, descending the hill, deafened their ears, and shook the foundations of the earth.

Tarriet turned her head to see Luke's face.

"Do please look at me," she asked persuasively, but with a touch of warning impatience.

Luke obediently moved his head and looked at her, in a strictly noncommittal way.

"I'm going to ask you to do me a favor," said Harriet. "Will you?"

"If I can."

"But naturally you can."

"Conscientiously?"

"Of course."

"You surprise me."

The fair-haired, slight, nervous, timid, easily flushing young man offered this piece of insolence in a gruff, half-articulate voice. Harriet smiled as though he had paid her a compliment. The Honorable Luke glanced away.

"I promised to be at the club at 11 o'clock," said Harriet. "But now I find I must pay an important call at the Hotel de Paris. I might be kept there half an hour, even an hour. I want you to say nothing about it. You could wait in the car. Lord Furber will expect you to see me into the club, though I've got my ticket all right. I'm a member there every season. And if His Lordship asks why we're so late—"

"You're so late," the Honorable Luke corrected.

"I'm so late," Harriet agreed, "say I insisted on going for a drive first up to the Corniche road to look at the scenery."

"But you can say that for yourself."

"I can, and I will, but I want you to back me up. See?"

"I see. But I can't do it conscientiously."

"Why not?"

"Because you're evidently up to something that you think His Lordship wouldn't care for. And it's no part of my job to deceive him. I know you're a regular conspirator, like he is. But I'm not a conspirator, except under his orders."

"Then you won't oblige me?"

"Oh yes, I will. I didn't say I wouldn't do it. All I said was I couldn't do it conscientiously. But I'll do it."

"You're a dear," said Harriet. "I knew I could trust you. Tell the driver to go on to the Hotel de Paris, will you?"

"Not yet," said the Honorable Luke. "You say you knew you could trust me. But you aren't trusting me."

"Yes, I am."

"No, you aren't. You haven't told me what's at the bottom of all this. You must."

"But I can't possibly do that."

"Then you don't trust me, Miss Perkins. I'm not going to trouble to tell you that I shouldn't breathe a word, or that I should be like the grave, and so on. Because you ought to know all about that. You do know. But the fact is you're too proud and stuck up to tell me everything. You think you'll tell me just as much as you think you will, and I shall accept it. But I sha'n't. Either I'll be trusted entirely or I won't be trusted at all. Take it or leave it."

For an instant Harriet suspected that somehow the Honorable Luke must have overheard her own ultimatum to Lord Furber a few nights earlier, so exactly was he adopting the attitude, which she had adopted. But she dismissed the silly suspicion, perceiving that the attitude was exactly as natural to Luke as it had been to herself. In other words, in one matter at any rate they were kindred minds; they had the same pride and the same obstinacy.

She put her hand lightly on his arm and, moving her head, looked into his eyes in the gloom of the limousine. And smiled.

"You're quite right," she said. "Confidence is either complete or it's nothing. And now I come to think of it, I should love to trust you completely."

She removed her hand from his arm, and he immediately put his hand on her arm. Assuredly they were very cosy in the car, whose interior was like a tiny but utterly comfortable boudoir—and safer than any boudoir from interruption.

"I must make it short," said Harriet, "because we haven't much time."

"Pooh!" said Luke. "The boss won't be leaving the club until 2 in the morning! Go ahead!"

"You're very autocratic," Harriet murmured.

"It's the only way to treat some people," said Luke, at the same time gazing at her in a manner which was not in the least in the world autocratic.

Rev. Harry Rodgers Speaker on 'Judgment'

Verdict Will Decide Eternity, Cambridge Evangelist Says in Church of God Revival.

The Rev. Harry Rodgers, of Cambridge, delivered an impressive discourse at the Church of God, West Ninth street, last night on "Death and the Judgment."

An inspiring musical service preceded the sermon. It was directed by Miss Estella Sprotman, of Kittanning, Pa. Accompanied by Mrs. Victor Owen, she sang "Nothing Between Me and My Saviour." The choir also sang several selections.

Habing studied in the Bible school at Anderson, Ind., and specialized in music under Prof. C. H. Clausen of that city, which was supplemented by vocal training under Arthur Lind, "America's Golden Tenor." Miss Sprotman is stressing the singing in the series of meetings. She is also organizing a children's choir which will take part in the preliminary exercises of the revival.

Singers from the Evangelical church of Wellsville will attend the services tonight. Miss Sprotman will sing "All the Way to Calvary."

The story of Lazarus and the rich man was realistically told by the Rev. Mr. Rodgers last night. He noted that both had to meet death and later submit to the judgment. "And of these two the judgment is the more important," he observed. "Most people, when they do think, think mostly of the ordeal of death, but the judgment will be found to be the one which all must prepare for the more. For the verdict of the judgment will decide eternity."

FIVE AT ALTAR IN REVIVAL

"God's storehouse is as full now as it ever was," declared the Rev. S. E. West, pastor, at the Free Methodist church, Avondale street, last night.

His subject was "The Promises of God."

Five persons went to the altar following the sermon. He will preach again tonight.

"We can get rid of all of our difficulties by being students of the Bible and adapting God's promises therein to our needs," he said. "We are all different from each other and thus have different needs. We must be ourselves and should never be imitators. Thus it would seem that God wants variety in human beings."

"By faith God's promises will take us on step by step. The harder our lives the more precious do His promises become to us. We all have difficulties peculiar to ourselves. God's promises can not fail as long as God is God. He has promised, according to His riches in glory, to supply all of our needs."

"When we meet God rightly and live for Him day by day we can claim His promises. To receive salvation, we have but to confess our sins and step out upon the promises that He has given us in His word."

A Dream— That Is Coming True

The dream of years—of boyhood—of manhood is destined to come true—to become a reality.

For years the younger Erlangers, reared amidst the friends and patrons of the old Erlanger Store, the early tutoring, under the very founders of the business, have left their impressions of high ideals and honest merchandising methods—and looking into the future, made them dreamers. Dreaming of the time when they might be privileged to carry on the Erlanger Business Traditions in the modern methods of the day.
